

HOOVER GETS HARD COAL FOR WISCONSIN

67TH CONGRESS IS GIVEN HIGH PRAISE BY PRES. HARDING

RECORD UNPARALLELED, MONDELL IS TOLD IN LETTER.

FACED HARD TASK

Post War Period Weathered in Triumph, Executive Tells Leader.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington—President Harding, in a letter to House Leader Mondell of Wyoming, made public today, has given the 67th congress the highest commendation in the history of the nation.

An abiding faith in our legislative system is expressed and an era of unequalled prosperity predicted.

After reciting that the 67th congress served in almost continuous session, the letter continues:

"The two congresses serving since the restoration of peace have seen a normal, with a prosperity which is the most striking if we contrast it with the experience without even mention to our gold standard money system. What other country has such a record?"

"Our government's expenses have been reduced in a proportion unequalled, I think, anywhere else. Our war debt has been, in proportion, reduced and policies have been adopted which assure continuing reduction."

"Our military and naval expenses have been restored approximately to normal with a prosperity which is the most striking if we contrast it with the experience without even mention to our gold standard money system. What other country has such a record?"

"There is no need for detail concerning the legislative record of the 67th congress, in a time when wide differences in producing costs and a well nigh universal tendency to erect barriers against international trade were menacing our commerce and industry."

NEW GLAND THEFT AROUSES CHICAGO

Second Victim Mutilated by Amateur Surgeons of City Report.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago—Police and the Chicago Medical society aiding division still were baffled Monday by the mystery surrounding the city's gland robbery.

At least two men were known to have been subjected to operations in which the vital glands were removed from their bodies. Both said they were kidnapped, drugged, mutilated and left on the street.

In some respects the two cases differed widely. Joseph Wozniak, 31, one of the victims, lost one gland through an operation which medical men said was the work of an expert surgeon.

Harry Johnson, an employee of the city electrical department, whose loss of glands was double that of Wozniak, was mutilated by an amateur according to surgeons.

Thomas J. O'Grady, democratic representative of the general assembly, announced he would introduce a bill in the legislature next winter for drastic measures against the potential menace of "gland bandits."

Hunting License Demand Falls Off

Only about one-half as many hunting licenses have been issued from the county clerk's office in Rock county this year as compared to 1921.

At the first rush, applicants were few and no great rush is expected until later this week when hunters will seek licenses to hunt rabbits on the opening day, October 25.

The late fall season has also had its effect on the number of licenses. The northern flight of ducks has been delayed by unusually good weather.

THREE SHOT DEAD IN ROCK ISLAND UNDERWORLD WAR

POLICEMAN AND TWO OTHERS SLAIN IN DOPE DEN.

GANGSTERS BUSY

Death List Reaches Seven, with Gangs Vowing Vengeance on Each Other.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rock Island, Ill.—Policemen James Greene, Edward Minor and Robert Scott, a negro, are dead as a result of a gun battle Sunday night in an underworld dope den.

The policemen sought to stop a quarrel between Scott and his wife, that was disturbing neighbors. Scott turned his gun on the others, when they entered his place. Greene was killed instantly and Minor and Scott died after being removed to a hospital.

The three latest deaths bring the toll of lives in underworld warfare in the city in a few months to seven and the Dill Durg and Looney gangs still are vowing vengeance on each other. Looney, whose name was slain in the street before being removed to a hospital, is believed to have been surrounded night and day by several armed guards. Anthony Bilbuck, charged with being leader of the gang, is at large on $20,000 bonds.

Feeling is running high at the seeming inability of the police to make the city safe, and many yet believe it will be necessary to call in state troops to restore normal conditions.

JUST WHAT IS THE BIGGEST TREE IN ALL ROCK COUNTY?

Where is the biggest tree in Rock county?

This question was started when the Gazette printed the story of the big willow on the farm of Mrs. M. A. Bowers, near Rock Island.

Fred Blakely of Janesville, says that's nothing. He has a tree 16 feet around it.

But Mrs. Kittie Shinnick, of Route 22, Beloit, says there is a cottonwood tree on the farm known as the Winter Northrup farm and now owned by Louis A. Cox, measuring 23 feet around it, two feet above the ground.

William J. Lathers says this tree will cut ten cords of wood.

All of which has started the controversy over where the biggest tree is in Rock county.

If you know of a larger tree or any large trees send the story and the measurements to the Gazette. There is a good job for the boys and girls in the Gazette Good Times Club.

CHURCH OBSERVES 80TH ANNIVERSARY

St. Luke's, Whitewater, Celebrates Holding of First Services, in 1842.

Whitewater—St. Luke's Episcopal church is celebrating its 80th anniversary, as one of the oldest churches in Wisconsin. Services were held in Whitewater in 1842 and occasioned the first church service in the town. The church was founded by Bishop Doane and the Rev. Messrs. Spaulding, Royce and Walker on June 1, 1842. The first service in the present building was held Nov. 3, 1860. The present pastor, Rev. B. Williams has been here since Sept. 1921.

Special services were held Sunday and Monday night, Nov. 12 and 13. The Wisconsin Synodical conference will be held at the church on Nov. 13 and 14. The church is a member of the Wisconsin Synod and the Lutheran church.

LIGHT VIOLATORS TAKEN TO COURT

Thirteen arrests were made by city and county police over the week-end in a concerted drive against violators of the automobile lighting regulations, requiring that every motor vehicle having less than 30 minutes after sunset and 30 minutes before sunrise display two lights in front and one in the rear.

Arraigned in municipal court, Monday morning, three were fined $10 and costs each, three $12.40, while seven were dismissed upon payment of costs, $2.40. Three more will appear in court later.

Merton G. Miller, county motorcycle patrolman, made three of the arrests as follows: Edward Dahl, Julius Hager and Edward Utzig. Dahl was fined $12.40, while the other two paid $2.40.

The city's motorcycle patrolman, George Porter, was responsible for the arraignment of Dewey Hall, Earl J. Hope, William Kammer, Ray L. Barner, Warren Howard, G. A. Thompson and Frank D. Holman. The first five paid $2.40 each while Thompson and Holmes were assessed $12.40.

"Those without tail-lights I dismissed upon payment of costs, $10 and costs each," said Charles Newman, district judge. "I have decided the only course left is to arrest violators and take them to court."

SOUSA, WHOSE BAND YOU SHOULD HEAR

Janesville has an opportunity Tuesday afternoon to hear the Great Sousa, the American band master with his splendid organization. It is only once in a while we get a fine attraction here. Years ago Janesville had the reputation of being one of the best show towns in the country and the highest class of artists in drama and music played from the stage of the Myers theater. With the change in theatrical attractions and the moving picture show taking the place of nearly all others, it is seldom we are offered anything out of the ordinary. Bu. Sousa is the only Sousa and as a band master has no peer.

An attraction like Sousa deserves therefore the largest patronage limited only by the capacity of the house. There are several hundred youth who have never heard Sousa. They ought in all reason to take advantage of the opportunity offered to them in Janesville.

RECIPROCAL PACT TO AID U. S. DRY NAVY'S DECLINED

BRITAIN TURNS DOWN HUGHES' SUGGESTION FOR SHIPPING.

OTHER HELP O. K.

Promises Precautions Against Rum Smuggling Under British Flag.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington—Great Britain, in a communication delivered Monday to the state department, has declined to have declined to agree to the suggestion of Secretary Hughes, for a reciprocal agreement for the extension of the right and search and seizure so as to give the American prohibition laws jurisdiction outside the three miles limit.

At the same time the British foreign offices assured the American government that every precaution would be taken to prevent violation of the American prohibition laws by rum smuggling under the British flag.

Presented by Hughes

It was said Canada and other port officials had been in touch to the effect that it was possible, the issuance of fraudulent clearance papers and other improper practices complained of in Secretary Hughes prohibition note.

The British communication, in reply to the one sent to London by the state department several weeks ago, was presented to Secretary Hughes by the British ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes. Although department officials would not discuss the subject, there were indications that the refusal to accord a reciprocal right of search outside the usual limits of territorial waters would be considered as finally blocking any extension of such authority to prohibition officers.

See No Extension

Orders already are in effect directing the prohibition navy not to operate outside the three mile limit except in case of vessels in communication with the shore by means of their own anchor boats and it has been the apparent belief of administration officials that any extension would not be in accordance with international practice unless it was made by some sort of specific agreement as that proposed by Mr. Hughes.

Mayor Whipped by Alleged Klansmen

Coffeyville, Kan.—Theodore Schierman, 42, mayor of Coffeyville, a city of 10,000, was whipped by a lone place four miles northeast of Liberty, Saturday night, and whipped with blackened whips by a mob of 15 men, who said they were members of the Ku Klux Klan. Schierman told the Coffeyville Herald that he was in the hall where Walter Keith, a Coffeyville attorney who is a candidate for district judge, made a speech on night last week. Keith severely rebuked the Ku Klux as "un-American" and it is thought this was the indirect cause of the assault on Schierman.

Beloit Woman Is Killed When Hit by Mouat's Car

Walking directly into the path of an automobile driven by M. O. Mouat, Janesville attorney, Mrs. Rachel Robinson, about 70 years old, of Beloit, was almost instantly killed on Riverside drive, near the Beloit city limits, at 9:30 p. m. Sunday. According to the version of the accident given by Mr. Mouat, he and his wife were returning to Janesville in a sedan, traveling at a moderate speed. The highway was clear before him when the woman stepped into the path of the car, he said, and so close that he did not have an opportunity to change materially the course of the automobile before the woman was struck and thrown to the pavement. She was dead when Mr. Mouat arrived with her at Emergency hospital, Beloit.

LEGION GATHERS FOR CONVENTION

Buddy Greets Buddy in New Orleans as Big Session Opens.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New Orleans—The report of the rehabilitation commission of the American Legion, in which the government's record of performance was termed "a series of mistakes," was met by the legionnaires with a "series of mistakes" in reply to it.

Col. G. R. Forbes, director of the U. S. Veterans Bureau who is here during the convention, declared that the bureau could not be criticized for any mistakes made under the first legislation, as it had nothing to do with the selection of men for hospital care.

Hospital authorities said the shock of the crash, had probably caused her death, the injuries not being of sufficient seriousness to have resulted fatally. The body was removed to Rossmore's undertaking parlors awaiting word from relatives as to the disposition of the body.

To Conduct Inquest

Mrs. Robinson, the widow of George Robinson, whom it was reported, was killed when hit by a fire truck several years ago.

An inquest will be conducted by District Attorney S. E. Durkin in the absence of Coroner Lynn Whaley.

Another Car Stolen Here

The second automobile theft here in two days occurred Saturday night when a 1921 Ford touring car was reported stolen from in front of the public library on South Main street. It was owned by C. T. Nantz, route 6, Janesville. No trace has been made of the machine stolen Friday night, from William Block, 333 Main street.

Early Monday the veterans and their women folk were enroute to the convention hall, under the sudden, rushed down on the tropic night of excitement, dancing and music, had not decreased their enthusiasm, and during the band music which preceded the opening of the convention, the first session of which was attended by members of the auxiliary, were frequent interruptions of hand clapping and cheering. The legionnaires had not arrived in such large numbers on the first day as were in Kansas City last year.

But their "zip" and "go" were in no way abated.

They were youth incarnate, ready to enjoy a holiday, and ready at the same time to defend what they conceived their rights and proper dues from the country for which they went to war in 1917.

Farmer Killed in Hunting Accident

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Green Bay—Hunting claimed its first victim of the season here Sunday when Henry Huisenfeldt, 28, a farmer living in the town of Rockland, near here, was accidentally killed by the discharge of his shotgun.

The victim was alone, but was found a few minutes later by another hunter.

$22,000 FIRE IN MILWAUKEE COUNTY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee—Three residences were destroyed in the town of Lake, early Monday and six families made homeless by fire which is supposed to have started from defective electric wiring over a recently filled coal bin. Damage is estimated at $22,000. Failure of the town of Lake to pay the expenses of fire fighting on previous occasions when the Milwaukee department was called, resulted in the unnecessary loss. The Milwaukee department responded following word that the expense would be guaranteed.

COMMERCE HEAD STARTS SUPPLIES VIA GREAT LAKES

27,000 TONS SHIPPED, GOVERNOR BLAINE IS NOTIFIED.

STIRS OFFICIALS

Northwest Situation Given Special Attention by Federal Fuel Boss.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison—Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, who Gov. J. E. Blaine Monday that he was giving special consideration to the hard coal situation, particularly as it concerns shipments to the territory of the lake states.

He advised the governor that 27,000 tons of anthracite had just been shipped to Wisconsin ports other than Milwaukee as a start of a large program of distribution.

Concerning prices of fuel, a distributor, in a message to P. H. Pressentin, secretary of the Wisconsin coal committee said that he was personally investigating the hard coal situation in the lake states. He said that a survey of the dumping capacity of docks at Erie and Buffalo was being made to determine if it is sufficient to handle the large amounts of coal that will have to be shipped. If insufficient the federal officials, said that it would at once consider increased movement of hard coal by rail.

Mr. Spens said information would be sent later.

Oil on Fire Kills 2 More Beloit Folk

Beloit—Glady's Planky, 16, and her sister, Beatrice, 7, are dead as the result of burns incurred in kindling a fire with kerosene. The home of their stepfather, Bert Edgar, was destroyed by fire, and the children were seriously burned, but is expected to recover.

Important Items Before Council

With four important matters scheduled for action, Monday night's meeting of the common council promises to be one of unusual interest. Consideration is given the proposal to extend the ornamental lighting system on South Jackson street, from Pleasant to Western avenue, while the railroad companies' 75-75 percent plan for the extension of the North Franklin street will be argued.

City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham will read the revised ordinance for arterial highways.

In a report on the Parker Pen company's petition to buy property at the corner of South Union and Court streets for a new addition, it is explained by members of the city planning commission that this could be termed a plea of special dispensation. It is rather the asking for something to which the company is entitled under paragraph 6 of section 1 of the zoning ordinance, which reads:

"Re-Building and Adding to Non-Conforming Uses.—Any non-conforming building or premises existing or in which a non-conforming use exists at the time of the passage of this ordinance, may be altered, repaired, or rebuilt in the case of impairment or destruction by fire or other cause, or additions may be made thereto, provided the reconstruction of the common council on recommendation of the city plan commission, providing that such rebuilding, changes, or additions will not injure the public health, safety and general welfare."

2 Are Injured in Auto Accidents

Two were injured in three accidents over the week-end.

Jerome, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Augustine, 1312 South Third street, received a broken arm at 5 p. m. Saturday when he was completely over his left arm run over by a car driven by H. A. Reinke, 1320 Racine street. Jerome and his brother were crossing the street, near the rink on South River street, according to witnesses, when Jerome was struck. He was taken to Mercy hospital and returned to his home Sunday evening.

Jersey Wollver, Myra avenue, suffered bad gashes in his head when the car he was driving struck a deep hole in the South Janesville road just outside the city limits, Sunday night. In a third accident, the car of S. Meyer, 54 South Franklin street, went into a ditch in the quarry section of the Edgerton road, Saturday night, breaking a wheel.

Faith—

With Works

Preaching the gospel of optimism is a mighty good thing—so far as it goes. It does help direct thought the right way.

But our idea of the true

optimist is the practical one—the person who

ACTS as if he believed the things he talks about and hopes for are going to come to pass. Putting optimism to work is the way to multiply its value.

Let's not only keep on looking on the bright side; let's continually be doing something to make it brighter. At this store

we believe in our country, our city, our neighbors and ourselves. And we believe in putting our faith into our daily business practice.

SAYS SHE SUCCEEDED

HUSBAND—NOW ASKS COMPLETE DIVORCE

Supporting a husband makes no bit with Camille B. Waters, Janesville telephone operator, who filed suit in the Rock county circuit court Monday for a complete divorce from her husband Elwin L. Waters.

The couple were married in Rockford during May, 1921.

Since the marriage, the wife alleges she has had to support herself and at times—her husband. The complaining charges that he treated her and rooms to the detriment of the family welfare and later his carnal acts as a taxi driver were not sufficient to support the household. She also charges cruel and inhuman treatment.

John L. Kelly, Rock, filed suit against his wife, Elizabeth B. Kelley, charging desertion. They were married June 28, 1918.

POWERS OF SWAMP LAND TO BE SHOWN

Important Drainage Demonstration Scheduled for Tuesday on White Farm.

Yielding powers of swamp land will be demonstrated Tuesday afternoon on the farm of Langdon White, town of Rock, by Griffl Richards, Madison and County Agent T. T. Glasco. The demonstration is one of the most valuable to the farmers arranged this year.

For years a part of the land in section 32 has been swampy and its value limited to pasture and swamp hay. One tract of between 15 and 20 acres on the White farm was drained by tile and 50 pounds of potato per acre applied with a corn planter attachment. One strip was not treated.

The field treated yielded corn that stands 10 and 12 feet high and will run 50 bushels to the acre and the untreated section is a failure.

The demonstration holds particular value in showing owners of low lands the great value of potato in crop production. On untreated soil the corn planted in muck is stunted, yellow and rarely matures but with the addition of murets of potato, a successful crop is generally secured.

The test is expected to help in the drainage project in the Goose Creek district and others now being considered by the land owners. The demonstration will start at 2 p. m.

THURSDAY—Child hygiene day. Every woman, organization of any kind, church, civic, literary or social, is asked to discuss child hygiene at regular or special meetings on this day, or sometime during the week. Leaders whose names could be secured, together with a letter about the new maternal welfare and child health center to be established at the county seat, are asked to send this information from Mrs. Fannie Munger, Jansville.

FRIDAY—Anti-tuberculosis day. Discussion of preventive measures and consideration of question, "Does Rock County Need a Tuberculosis Sanatorium?"

SATURDAY—May be observed in all churches as "Health and Morals Day." This happens to be the world's temperance Sunday and is therefore an appropriate time for the discussion of health in relation to prohibition, immorality, etc., by ministers and Sunday school teachers and in young people's meetings.

It is suggested that at least one community mass meeting be arranged. An outside speaker is desired for such a meeting. The general Good Health Week committee will endeavor to secure one from Jansville, Detroit or Madison.

SUNDAY—The general Good Health Week committee will endeavor to secure one from Jansville, Detroit or Madison.

The plan for the Good Health week observance of the following endorsement from James J. Davis, secretary of labor, H. whose department the work of the U. S. public health service and its state and local branches is carried on.

"Any organized movement for better health should have the support of every man, woman and child in America. It is a duty we all owe to ourselves, our neighbors and our nation. Healthy families are usually happy families, and it is up to each one of us to contribute our assistance in that direction."

The medical profession has brought to do in bringing back health to the sick; the layman can himself prevent most of his ills and he should do his part. If there is any way, personally or officially, that I can help out in an educational campaign to create more widespread interest in personal hygiene, sanitation and ventilation in home or in industry, thus giving to us a better state of health, my services are at your command."

Paradise for the Hunter Lies up Where Minnesota and Canada Swap Their Game

By Lewis C. French.

"All set—let's go!" Four o'clock in the morning on the ranger station look at Lake Keweenaw in northern Minnesota. The coast, just a few miles from the Canadian border. The rocky shore formations show up in ghostly array as the canoe skims over the water for the two mile paddle to the swampy creek. The big pine cast a faint shadow over the moonlit waters.

Turning into the big bay the ranger warns of silence. It is pitch dark paddling into the creek, for the moonlight cannot filter through the canopy of the pines. Not a sound, except the slight drip of the water off the paddles and now and then a swirl of the water in the canoe disturbs a picket feeding in the shallow stream. Downstream to the blinds.

This Is Beauty From the shore comes a soft, fairly sharp whistle, a tramping of the weeds and the suck of feet coming out of the mud. The ducks, sharp whistles continue. The flash-light is turned on the bank. There stands a young duck, inhaling gusts of breath in hopes of securing the unseen danger on the water. The light fascinates her as she stands there, eyes gleaming like red coals, head erect, with nervous nostrils twitching.

Such a statue—trim body with every muscle ready alert.

The light is snapped off. There is a crash as the frightened duck races through the dead wood of the shore line into the thicket.

The blinds are a short distance away—willow thickets on a mud bar at the bend in the lazy creek. Entangling decoys in the dark is not an easy task. It is hurry for the first red glint of sun is appearing. Decoys out. It was an adventurous wait for sun-up.

What Is That?

At the first streak of dawn, the swamp and forest stir to life. The awesome silence is replaced by noise—an interesting chorus, but hard to interpret. There is a quick splash as the muskrat drops into the water. The ambitious kingfisher sounds freshman class of Marquette university.

Allen Jones spent the week-end with friends in Chicago and Detroit.

Miss Edna Case is visiting friends in Chicago.

An accident occurred to Mrs. Frank Daniels Saturday while she was visiting the football game at the city park. The ball came out into the sidewalk and in the scuffle to obtain it she was struck in the head, sustaining a fractured collar bone.

Max Schumke and Dr. L. S. Crump will attend the American Legion convention as delegates from the Paul Frank Florine post of this city. They have the honor of bearing the colors in the parade. They left Saturday morning.

his rattle and makes for the swampy woods of the marsh. Then comes a shivering cry from the pines—the big owl that spreads terror around the swamp. All other noises stop. Then a cold thrill of excitement—what is that?

Paradise for the Hunter Directly to the rear of the blind is a partly dried swamp left muddy by lowering of the waters. Feet suck in and out and then a short, sharp cry like the blowing of water from the nostrils. No deer ever made that noise. The willows crackle and crunch.

"Boose—and a whooper!" whispers the hunter.

Monarch of the Forest Peering through the willows a sight is caught of the forest monarch. He looks as big as a house with antlers swaying up and down as he drinks. There is not enough breeze to carry the scent, and whether there were or not, this particular bull moose had nothing to fear. Twelve gauge shot gun leads of fine duck shot are not an effective medium to disturb the peace of his honor. No one questioned his right to the swamp, for his boots are not an indulgence to speed across a rice swamp and the tall timbers were 100 yards away.

A gust of wind made the big boy stop stock still, head up, eyes blazing fire. He stamped his feet and with angry hollow turned and crashed through the swamp. That hollow made cold shivers quiver the spine. "Well I am d— glad he did not elect to come this way," the decoy remarks the ranger. Photographs examined later show the visitor was no pigma.

No Tenderfoot Here! The swamp was coming to life. There is the cautious squawk of the right horizon, the blue like notes of the forest songsters, and the twittering swampy sparrow alights on a branch near the gun barrel—takes a startled look and beats a hasty retreat. The duck snipe comes sailing along and lets out a sharp cry on seeing the gunners. Putting on speed he darts around, uttering a shrill call, insistent on telling the wide world there is an alien in the swamp. Then a sharp switch and flutter of quick wings as a flock of Wilson snipe—teeter-bobs—come like a streak, circling and turning gracefully. A dozen cries, drumming and calls unknown to the hunter.

Across the creek, a suspicious partridge walks out on the end of a log, takes a look around and speeds to the water for his morning's drink under a safe night in the tree tops. Just as the partridge stops a thunderbolt descends from the sky with a dazzling sweep. Vainly the partridge beats its wings to start. Too late—the bird hawk sails away with his breakfast.

Al—Wild Ducks! Red flints appear, followed by the golden glow as the fire—red sun appears, boosting its tip above the water horizon. The lake is in a haze from the forest fire smoke, 10 miles away.

"Never mind the scenery—look up there," casually advised the ranger. There is a long triangle of winging ducks approaching from the lake. You grip your gun with new interest. Straight overhead they sail with express train speed. On seeing the decoys they break and scatter. They swoop and circle, coming closer and closer but still out of range.

Attention is diverted by a sudden splash. Two young teal are swimming to the decoys. The flock overhead comes closer. Will they ever stop circling and make for the decoys? Itching to shoot you wait until at last they approach with wings set for a small bay away from the decoys—just out of good range.

"Mallards are no fools," remarks the guide. They swim around dodging the decoys until within range of the second blind. As the gunner rises, there is a hurried quacking, the flutter of wings beating on the water and up they go. The boom of the automatic sounds out as the mallards go upwards—and no duck can obtain elevation as fast as mallards. Once in the air, away they sail.

Now Come the Teal A 10 minute wait, and then a whistle from behind as a flock of teal approaches. They sail by so fast, one wonders how shot ever catches them. Certainly, there is no faster winged bird than teal. Glided with speed, they lack the brains of the mallard. Once satisfied the flock sails among the decoys and the sight is too interesting to shoot on the "Come-in." They bobbed around the decoys until the gunners lifted and it was a quick jump-off, every duck to himself and in too much of a hurry for squawking. As they squarrel away the triggers were pressed and in another fraction of a second the teal were out of range. They mislaid their trail—they should be called feathered lightning. Old Mercury must have used them when in a hurry for an air messenger. There were blue-bills, grey mallards and a few others for the morning's excitement.

Enough to out—and quit for it is full break of day, with good shooting over until evening.

The Hunter's Paradise: The country along the international waterways of Minnesota is one of the last tracts of forest and stream wilderness. Starting from the vast Lake Superior national refuge, there are stretches of good timber for 150 miles. It is a great game country—one of the best left. There is Lake Croix, Crane Lake, Sand Point, Ramoth, Keweenaw, King William narrows, all boundary waters ending into Rainy Lake and Itasca River and Kabetogama—where the waters meet. The trip from Crane Lake to Kabetogama, through the several narrows is one of unusual interest both in history and scenery.

The outstanding game feature is the number of partridge and pin grouse. Good conservation has brought these valuable game birds back in record numbers.

Sixty-Two Birds! A walk along an old logging road was rewarded by the sight of 62 birds, many of which refused to flush. The woods are full of birds, the result of a law that gives them protection every other year. They are too tame for their own good. Photographs were obtained of birds within a range of three feet and even then they refused to fly with the grilles snapped.

On one of the trips the rangers jumped at a red swamp. In the state reserve, camera hunting is popular for patience will be rewarded with the sight of almost any kind of American game common to the border district, from moose to beaver.
